Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Friday 19 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Very wet, especially over the moors. Coastal gales.

Today:
A wet and cloudy day, with prolonged rain arriving during the morning and persisting throughout, falling heavily at times, especially over Dartmoor. Mild, but this tempered by strong winds and coastal gales. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Heavy rain will affect much of the region, but especially Devon and Cornwall. Staying cloudy and today's strong winds continue. Mild. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Saturday:
Further outbreaks of rain, heaviest to the south of or over higher ground. Some occasional drier spells further east. Mild, despite strong southerly winds. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Sunday to Tuesday:
Early rain on Sunday soon clears eastwards, leaving sunny spells and showers. Light winds. Dry on Monday, with sunshine in the afternoon. Further rain and strong winds on Tuesday. Mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.